From our St. Vincent de Paul Society

This week, please say a special prayer each day for the poor and forgotten in our communities served by the members of the Christ the King Conference. Neighbors in need will always be with us.

Please contact our president for more information. Bruce, the CK SVdP President, can be reached at (509) 627-7295 or email him at bruce@svdpck.org.

Spiritual Practices

Ignatian Spirituality:

Ignatian prayer opens our hearts to God's amazing creation. All created things of this world are gifts, given to humankind to help us get to heaven. But, of course, not all things are good for a particular individual. This is where discernment comes in. We must decide what created things will take us to God, and which will lead us away toward our own selfish needs or desires. To discern that, we must be willing to let go of the things that bind us, the things we're attached to, and embrace those that will take us to divine love. Through prayer, community, and spiritual direction, Ignatian Spirituality provides the tools a person needs to understand how to do this.

If you have any questions or want more information, please visit our website at <https://seeltc.com> or contact us at info@seeltc.com.

Benedictine Spirituality:

Today's Gospel tells the story of Mary, who devoted herself to prayer, and Martha, who was burdened with much work.

A famous Benedictine motto is 'Ora et Labora' — prayer and work. Mary and Martha exemplify the blessing in these actions. St. Benedict tells us that prayer is not an escape and work is not a burden. Both are of value in serving the Lord.

For more information about Benedictine spirituality, contact Betsy at 509-430-1962.

Carmelite Corner

Excerpts from Nine Themes in Carmelite Spirituality, Fr. Patrick McMahon, O. Carm., www.ocarm.org

The humanity of Christ is our life's breath for in his sacred humanity is the path to our salvation. As the Fathers of the Church teach us, God became human so that we might become divine. In the humanity of Christ we see our invitation to share in his divinity. This is the end, the purpose of Carmel, like the end of the Christian life in general. It is transformation into Christ so that we may share in the divinity of him who humbled himself to share in our humanity.

That is why the Rule of St. Albert calls him: "Our Only Saviour". We never take our eyes off him. We never set our feet on any path but his. We walk after him in the company of Mary, his mother, and with the other disciples, but we run after him and him alone. Like the Syro-Phoenician Woman, we grasp at the hem of his garment for our salvation.

For information about the Lay Carmelites, contact Rebecca Moak at 509-460-1608.
