Order of Christian Initiation of Adults

OCIA OCIA is the program for bringing folks into the Catholic Church, and it will be HUGE at Christ the King this year. Our classes meet on Thursday nights at 6:30 p.m., beginning for some on Sept. 4. We like to offer snacks and beverages for the participants, in case they miss supper. Could you help provide these snacks or beverages? Even helping with one night or two would be a great blessing. Contact Therese Ronish at 509-371-0994 for more information and assignment. Please leave a message if no one answers, and she'll get back to you. Thank you for your support of this important work!

Would you like more information about joining the Catholic church? Contact Deacon Ross Ronish at Ronish@aol.com for more information!

OCIA needs sponsors for those completing their sacraments of initiation (baptism, confirmation, first communion). The sponsor walks the journey of faith with these folks, so you don't need to know everything about the Catholic Church. You just need to be willing to be there for the person you sponsor.

If you would like to help with this important role, please contact Deacon Ross at Ronish@aol.com.

Spiritual Practices

Ignatian Spirituality:

This year's session of the Spiritual Exercises in Everyday Life (SEEL) has begun. If you want more information please visit our website at <https://seeltc.com> or contact us at info@seeltc.com.

Benedictine Spirituality:

This week, the church remembers angels: the arch-angels Michael, Gabriel, and Raphael on Monday, and the guardian angels on Thursday. St. Benedict acknowledges the presence of angels in our world, who watch over our actions and report them to God (RB 7). The angels are not intended to be snitches, but rather to provide accountability; as the rich man and Lazarus discover in today's Gospel, our actions in this life have consequences. Knowing that the angels are watching helps us make good choices.

For more information about Benedictine spirituality, contact Betsy at 509-430-1962.

Carmelite Corner

Excerpts from Nine Themes in Carmelite Spirituality, Fr. Patrick McMahon, O. Carm., www.ocarm.org

Carmel has its roots in the Laity

Carmelites began as laymen who embraced the eremitical life. There may have been a priest or two among them, we do not know for certain. But we do know that the hermits who gathered in the wadi en 'esiah in the first decade of the 13th century were not monks but lay hermits, ordinary men who had grown somewhat disillusioned with their world and what little it really had to offer them. They were people like ourselves who wanted to find some meaning to their lives, a meaning that only God could give, a meaning that was defined not by the world around them but by the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Their spirituality was monastic in as that they were driven by the same spiritual hungers that had called the desert monks of old, but they were ordinary laymen who had sought their bishop's blessing on their living a hermetical life that empowered them to follow Christ in listening to his word. They did not aspire, initially, to be either religious or priests. But after 20 years or so of the simple hermetic life some of the hermits began being ordained, probably so that they could occasionally preach, or hear confessions of the pilgrims who came to Mt. Carmel on their way to Jerusalem.

Lay Carmelites should not try to be a "friar in the world" or a nun in the world." Your vocation as a Lay Carmelite is to be just that, a Lay Carmelite in the world; a Christian lay person who witnesses to the values of the gospels in daily life.

For information about the Lay Carmelites, contact Rebecca Moak at 509-460-1608.

A Walk Through the Mass

Join us for an up-close and personal walk through the Roman Catholic Mass. We'll take you on a weekly journey in the church and bring you into the sanctuary for a up-close look at what goes on during the Mass. Find answers to such questions as:

- What is that first procession all about?
- Why do we splash ourselves with water when we arrive and leave?
- What about the bells? Incense?
- Is that really Jesus up there...or just a symbol?

Remaining sessions are on Tuesdays, September 30, October 7, 14, 21, and 28 at 7 p.m. Offered by our Adult Studies program; presented by Deacon Ross Ronish and deacon candidates.
